just a lowly mountain laurel lifted gently from the humble earth.
beauty deep to thrill the heart forever;
bearing life when living sunshine poured its glowing, warming lightness through the concealing shelter giving tiny greenish-yellow forms of nature strength and vim for will of living.
slowly, slowly, grows the mountain laurel basking long in sunshine's brilliant favor; lying limp on moss and rock
as blazing lightning, clashing thunder, piercing daggers of melted steel.
howling zephyrs, and threatening clouds hide the light with quelling darkness.
swelling, bursting, vivid as the sunset breaking through the jagged, murky curtain, sparkling now, the laurel is a ruby,
treasured, precious, living,
never fading from your heart.

used of old this simple laurel crested brows of youth for feats of valor;
living symbol for deeds of courage,
for thoughts of kindness,
for acts of honor.

laurel growing wild on sloping hillocks, laurel verdant still on brows of mortals. . .
this laurel blending word and face and scene holding time's own mellowed memory—is ours.

DEDICATION

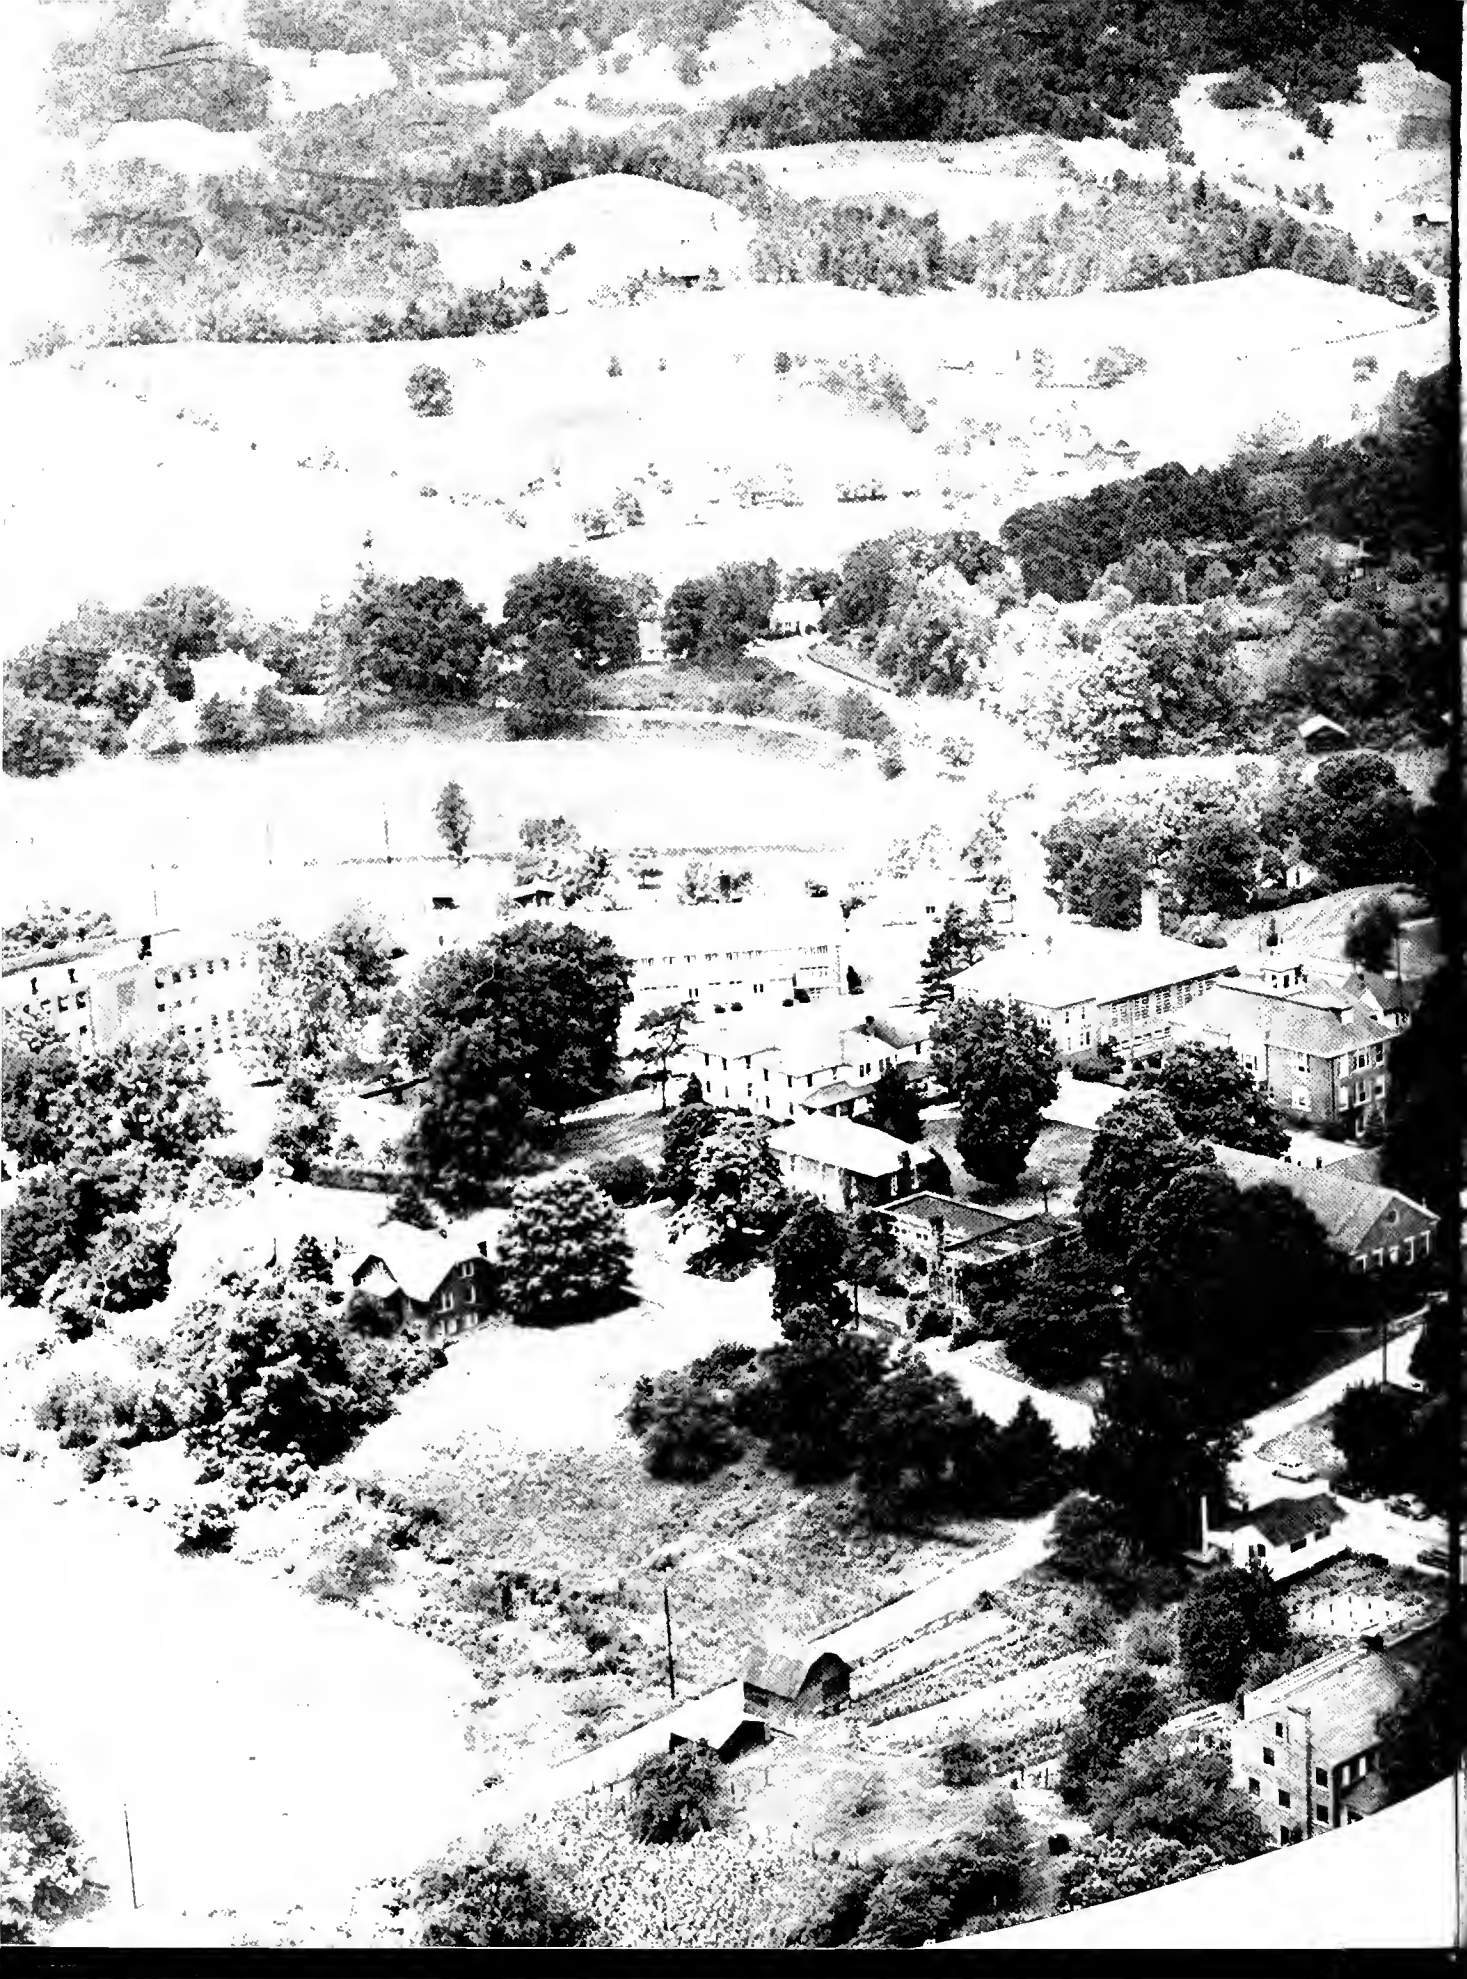

For her inspiration, we thank her
For her sincerity, we praise her
For her Christian character, we love her . . .

Thus in expression of our thanks, praise, and love, we warmly dedicate the 1951 edition of the LAUREL to

The Priceless Ingredient

If I were asked to express in one word the priceless ingredient of our college, that word would be FRIENDLINESS, a friendliness whose object is not to gain advantage but to serve, a friendliness which expresses itself in a devotion that adheres to principles of high and proper choice and a loyalty that is not ashamed to acknowledge that a positive Christian spirit pervades the campus. I am glad to be a member of the Mars Hill College family.

The Best Things In Life Are Free

September 9, 1952. Dear Diary: Today we unfortunate CI's learned just how green we really are at this college business. We stood timidly in registration line, afraid to even ask the name of the Joe or Jill just in front of us (who was really as inexperienced as the next one). We decided to grin and bear it and impress the superior CII's.

September 12, 1952. Dear Diary: Wheee! We actually lived through the first day of classes. What a difference in the "good ole high school" days and this!

September 13, 1952. Dear D.: Has this ever been a thrilling day! We acquired a new word for an old feeling—"S.P." It seems that everyone knows about it. We really feel like old hands at this game now and just between the pages of this book and about eight hundred other people, some of us had our first dates on campus. We went to the B.S.U. get-acquainted party and had sooo much fun. It really is great to meet all of these wonderful people.

November 26, 1952. My Dear Diary: You have been so sadly neglected that it is probably impossible to catch up on all the happenings. However, you haven't been forgotten any more than we CI's. The CII's have looked forward to Thanksgiving, Homecoming, and Society Anniversaries and Receptions for weeks. We unnoticed CI's have watched in amazed bewilderment as old classmates have returned to the campus. Those inhuman shrieks have merely been greetings of long-time no-see friends.

April 7, 1953. Dear Diary: Christmas vacation—exams—spring vacation—so many things have happened. It's hard to believe that Junior-Senior banquet time is here. We have slaved to make it the very best. Early morning practices, unforgettable trips to Asheville, late nights in Stroup attic and Wall basement—these have gone into our theme, "The Best Things in Life Are Free." It's funny how we hadn't realized before how true these words really are, and now we know.

June 1, 1953. Sweet Diary: This is the sad part of the year. We have been so busy since May Day, which was a breathtaking event, and now we realize that we will never again see a great many of the CII's after graduation. Again our theme holds true. Friends cost nothing but a smile, and a smile is certainly free.

September 8, 1953. Wonderful Diary: We're back home! It's such a wonderful feeling to be among friends once more and to be meeting CI's. We'll help them travel over the "rough" road we had last year. (It won't be too hard, though, if the teachers are as understanding as they were with us.) We have been especially fortunate to have Mama and Papa Dee for our class sponsors. They treated the class officers royally at a steak-fry at the Cascades. Some fun! We have about the same things to look forward to this year, except we'll probably enjoy them even more than before.

April 17, 1954. Treasured Diary: Are we ever tired! All day away from school so that the CI's could use the time to decorate the bare walls of the cafeteria with hand-painted tapestries woven in the same mill as ours were last year. After that marvelous shipload of treasures we flowed up our respective hills on the tide of ecstasy that will long brighten our hold of golden gleams of never-fading jewels.

May 31, 1954. Dearest Diary: There comes a time when we must say goodbye, and I fear the time is here. This is a book of cherished, certainly never-to-be-forgotten, memories. There is a sadness in parting but these few lines would make us happy again. "We should keep one room in our heart as a treasure-chamber for the sweet joys and friends that we have left behind. Memory has a marvelous power to make gladness for us."

Ebbtide

As freshmen most of us came to Mars Hill with high expectations. We were entering upon a new venture — college life. We were a little afraid of the teachers to begin with, but we gradually got into the routine of things. We tried to fit into the atmosphere of Mars Hill, and we seemed to have succeeded well as we began to hold offices and participate in the many activities.

Our first accomplishment as a class came when a contest was held to see which class had the most spirit. We showed our enthusiasm, and we were judged as the class with the most spirit. As time flew by and our second semester was under way, we became the leaders in a project to stop linebreaking. With the cooperation of the C-II class we succeeded in stopping it.

Then came the most important task of the year. Led by Mr. and Mrs. Harley Jolley, our class sponsors, and a Steering Committee composed of Doris May, Mary George Pennell, Pat Thomas, Mouise Simpson, Kim Cole, Rodolph Dixon, John Hough, Jim Mohorn, and Leon Rooke, we undertook our biggest task of the year, that of giving our worthy C-II's a banquet. They had given a great one the year before, and thus they confronted us with a great task—that of giving a better one. We labored hard and long, and then the moment came. On April 17 we presented a program using as our theme "Ebbtide" and making the popular tune "Ebbtide," our theme song. We used many other popular tunes such as "I Believe," "Secret Love," "Red Sails in the Sunset," "Moon Over Miami," "By the Sea," "Blue Moon," and "By the Light of the Silvery Moon." We had some very popular scenes such as the Mermaid Scene, The Lighttower Scene, The Shrimphoat Scene, The Beach Scene, and the closing scene pertaining to our theme. We hope the C-II's will remember this as a great occasion, and that they appreciated our efforts.

As the end of the year grows near, we think of being C-II's next year. We wish each C-II the best of luck, and may each one have success in whatever he undertakes to do. We hope that next year we will be able to carry on as well as they did and add to their accomplishments, and thus make Mars Hill College a better place.

ACTIVITIES

HONOR CLUBS

Any member of an honor club will treasure a lot of memories of initiation stunts, formal meetings, club programs and open forums, faculty criticism, and delightful refreshments when he looks back at his college activities in the years to come. A lot of perseverance and genuine interest are necessary requirements of anyone who wishes an invitation to an honor club. The clubs cover the fields of English, history, science, business, religion, music, and the languages. Members are accepted at the end of each semester. Among the requirements are thirty quality points and a B on the subject. The clubs meet once each month and discuss topics of particular interest to the club.

If one is to become a successful business man or an efficiency plus secretary, then it is necessary that one knows more than the fundamentals of typing or business law. Members of the Business Club, an organization which serves to help solve both present and future business problems, learn to arrange and conduct meetings, and to meet the public successfully. The business of the club is to produce men and women with the knowledge sufficient to conduct tomorrow's affairs in the commercial world.

Business Club

Standing: Shirley Pope, Viola Gallimore, Donald Hammond, Carolyn McCaskill, Alice Owen, Ernestine Corbett, Bobby Coley, Joyce Strickland, and Jeanette Watson. Seated: Charles Bobo, Peggy Huss, Jane Cook, and Joanne Watson.

Scriblerus Club

If one's pen seems to magically possess the talent of producing good work with a flavor of originality, if one watches his punctuation and verb tenses carefully enough, and if one has a special leaning toward Shakespeare, Browning, Burns, or others, then one is likely to enjoy belonging to the Scriblerus Club. The club is especially created to satiate the longing of honor English students to learn more about their favorite author or selection, and to encourage the creation of work that might become the favorite of students of a future generation.

Requisite of belonging to the I.R.C. is an interest in the wars of the Orient, the present administration, or other current events, a B in history, and the second Monday night of each month free until 10:00 p. m. The club is especially for those students that have developed an interest in the past and its connection with the future. The organization strives to keep alive the spark of interest in world affairs that it kindles in the young people of today — the leaders of tomorrow.

International Relations Club

French Club

Standing: Grace Savage, Catherine Yates, Sarah Adams, Terry Thomas, Cynthia Knight, Shirley Revan, and Mildred Scroggs. Seated: Laurena Hardin, Carolyn Hutchinson, Betty Lambert, Joanne Robbins, and Betty Jo Huskins.

The French Club is an organization especially created for those individuals who have a special aptitude for French. The club seeks to become better informed about the subjects of French literature and art, and to improve its understanding of spoken as well as written French. The French Club is a haven for those who would choose to spend some of their extra time improving their French.

The Spanish Club includes those with the interest and scholarship equivalent of good Spanish students. In addition to improving the Spanish of the members and increasing the understanding of the language, the Club studies about the Spanish people, their homes and food. The club is fortunate in having some of the foreign students as members and these students are able to give the other members first hand information about the way of life "south of the border."

Spanish Club

German Club

Charles Green, Britt Hudson, Betty Pike, Martha Swanson, Sue Waldrop, and Mrs. Vann.

Another of the clubs that studies the way of life in a foreign country is the German Club. The club studies the German people, their way of life and how that way is like and different from the American way. In addition, the club strives to know some of the artistic and literary background of the German language. As in other clubs of this nature the students must have an interest in the subject and the sufficient grades to meet the set standard.

For those people from the world of music who have developed a love for the background of music of all types from opera to folk songs, the Orpheon Club is a wish realized. The club takes its name from the mythological god, Orpheus, alledged to be the god of poetry and music. Though none of the members feel that they will ever rival Orpheus, all enjoy discussing those great musicians of the past and present who have nearly accomplished the feat.

Orpheon Club

Standing: Miss Martha Biggers, Judy Northern, Lucy Luffman, Mr. Roberts, Miss Francis, Miss Blakely, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Poplin, and Barbara Gordon. Seated: Vencie Kilpatrick, Agnes Congleton, Erma Styles, Dexter Conner, Phyllis Ware, Janet Scent, Roger Martin, and George Payne.

Science Club

Standing: Mr. V. E. Wood, Dr. Richardson, Albert Emory, Mr. Arthur Wood, John Blake, and Mr. Outten.
Seated: Alicia Osteen, Ruth Poston, Helen Brown, Artelia Bailey, Shirley Schuette, Betty Stacy, and Ruth Bramlett.

For some students of botany and biology, the word science holds only memories of frogs or lab drawings. There are some individuals, however, for whom the world of science unlocks doors of opportunity. From those whose chief ambition is to split an atom or those who are interested in becoming practicing physicians, the Science Club is an answer to many questions. The members enjoy the fellowship of associate budding scientists, and, in addition, learn a little more about the vast and promising world of science.

The Bible Club is the newly created honor club on the campus this year. It caters especially to those students who plan to go into full time Christian vocational service. These students probe into the customs and the personalities of the world of Christ. In so doing they progress far beyond the limits of a survey course in Bible. The club is a splendid opportunity for fellowship with those who plan to enter vocational church work and with those professors who have made this field their life's work.

Bible Club

Girls Student Council

If one were a member of the Girls Student Council she would find that among other things her chief duty would be to keep the girls informed on the latest study regulations and so on from Miss Caroline. The members arrange for dorm parties, assist the house mothers in encouraging good deportment, and act as presiding officers at the house meetings.

Boys House Presidents

Good deportment is a matter of essential importance with the boys. The Boys House Presidents cooperate with the house mothers in seeing that the houses are kept in order. In addition these boys preside at the regular meetings of the dorm.

Marshals

Character, personality, leadership, and scholarship are points taken into special consideration when the faculty selects the college marshals. These chosen few usher at the various concerts, plays, and programs given by the college. The honor and the responsibility are high ones.

Art Club

Though one does not have to be an old master painter, he who paints reasonably well is he who enjoys the fellowship and constructive criticism, that goes into the making of the art club. The art club is not an honor club, but is composed chiefly of those who are art majors. Many pleasant memories will remain to these students, and among the most pleasant will be Mr. Robertson and the drawings of the wood and the bottle.

If you would like to get the nearest thing to Mother's home cooking go by the lab some time when the Home Economics Club is having a session on foods. The club is composed largely of home economics majors, and it discusses problems concerning the home and its keeping from A to Z. The club is one of the most active organizations on the campus.

Home Economics Club

Debate Club

Resolved: That the U. S. should adopt a policy of free trade. If one were to stop by room 30 of Moore Hall any Tuesday or Wednesday at 6:30 p. m., he would hear some aspiring debater announcing his topic for the evening. If one thinks that debating is an easy job, one week under the coaching of Mr. Jolley would convince him otherwise. He would probably be just as easy to convince that it is one of his more fascinating experiences and Mr. Jolley would have a new convert.

There is an old adage that says, "birds of a feather flock together." If one needed proof for this he could easily find it by looking in on a meeting of the Nursing Club. There he would find a group of future Florence Nightingales gathered to discuss their problems and share experiences. These girls find association with others of their intended profession one of their most pleasant Mars Hill experiences.

Nursing Club

DRAMATEERS

The Dramateers is a group of working young thespians. In the group there is no such creature as an inactive member, for every one must take part in at least one play or other public presentation during the year. For the more talented the club offers real opportunity for practice. For those who love good plays and enjoy acting as a pastime it affords fellowship and stage experience. The organization is a real asset of the drama department and one of the department's favorite proteges.

THE BAND

The Band is a charlatan that presents the stirring college theme at the football games, and then forms itself into an orchestra to play in the Christmas concert. No football game would be complete without the halftime performance of the band, nor can spirits be lifted quite so quickly as by a peppy rendition of the "Saints." The marching formations have delighted everyone with their originality. Even more impressive is the effective job that the band does in concert. The Band is a familiar and integral part of college life.

COLLEGE CHOIR

Among Mars Hill's many prized possessions is the college choir. This group is made up of the finest voices on the campus, and many of the members are voice majors. The choir participates in many of the college functions, and represents the college at various conventions in addition to the annual spring tour that it makes each year. If one would listen carefully on a spring afternoon as he passes McConnell he would hear the choir under the direction of Mrs. Roberts practicing faithfully.

Girls' Glee Club

The Girls Glee Club is one of the larger of the music groups on the campus. The girls, under the direction of Mrs. Fred Poplin have worked hard and have made an appearance in concert. The organization is an excellent opportunity for those who enjoy music and have a good voice.

Boys' Glee Club

The Boys' Glee Club has made a tremendous stride forward in this school year not only in quality, but in number as well. The boys work separately as well as with the girls' group in preparing for the various school events in which they participate. Highlight of the boys' work is the concert given jointly with the girls. Singly and jointly the glee clubs are a delight to those who love good music.

Twenty Singers

A group of eleven boys and nine girls selected from the two glee clubs comprise the twenty singers. The group has represented the college at various meetings, and has taken part in the Christmas concert. They are talented and enthusiastic young people enjoying music together.

RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS

Of the many phases of college life at Mars Hill, one of the more important is religious activities. Everyone is included in the activities of Sunday School and Training Union. For those who plan to go into Christian vocational service there is the Ministerial Conference and Volunteers for Christ. The college carries on an extensive mission program through the Mission Council and the Y.W.A. The high ideals of "plain living and high thinking" are emphasized through the Y.T.C. Though the college is Baptist in denomination the M.Y.F. brings together the Methodist students. The Executive Council of B.S.U. binds all these activities together into an active B.S.U. working together with the college and the church to create a Christian college practicing the principle of "maximum Christianity applied."

A great part of the credit for the fine church-college relationship found at Mars Hill belongs to the B.S.U. Council. The Council strives constantly to bring the student into close contact with the church activities and make of him an active member. It leads in supplying wholesome Christian recreational functions especially at the beginning of each year. Throughout the year it takes the initiative in leading the students into a deeper spiritual life and a more practical and applied Christianity.

Mission Council

The Mission Council takes as its goal each year the further application of the commandment of "Go ye into all the world . . ." It goes to Oteen, to small churches, to the jail and to any other place where the people need to be told of the Christ. Through the council, which directs the missionary activities of the student body, Mars Hill radiates the Christian atmosphere for which it is so noted.

Sunday School Presidents

At 9:45 each Sunday morning this group of young people chosen by their classes, step forth to lead in devotion and in preparing to receive the message brought by the teacher. They are an exemplary influence on those whom they lead. Their faith and perseverance greatly determine the effectiveness of their class.

Training Union Presidents

The T.U. presidents are a group of students chosen to lead the college unions as they study more about the application of God's Word. Every Sunday night in the individual unions these leaders guide their unions in participation in the programs and in learning to apply Christianity.

The Digit Staff

The Digit is a new feature of the T.U. department this year. The paper appears twice a month, and is composed of items of T.U. news and progress. The paper has proved itself to be a very valuable link between the executive officers of T.U. and the members on the campus.

MINISTERIAL CONFERENCE

The Ministerial Conference is a band of young men preparing for the ministry. They hold weekly meetings of devotion and learning, provide for one Sunday night service each month, provide the Sunday night ushers, and aid the church services in general. This group indeed means a great deal to Mars Hill, for the campus just wouldn't be the same without the "preacher boys."

VOLUNTEERS FOR CHRIST

If one has made a decision to put Christ first in any vocation that he may choose, then his place is Volunteers. The Volunteers encourage those who are going into secular vocations to take Christ with them and put Him into the world.

Young Women's Auxiliary

The Y.W.A. is the group that stayed to send the missionaries. This group of girls meet together each month to study the activities of the mission field and the personalities of the workers there. Many of the girls are mission volunteers; therefore the study is of invaluable aid to them. The Y.W.A. supports the Lottie Moon Fund with a monetary gift and sponsors a missionary speaker for a week each year.

Youth Temperance Council

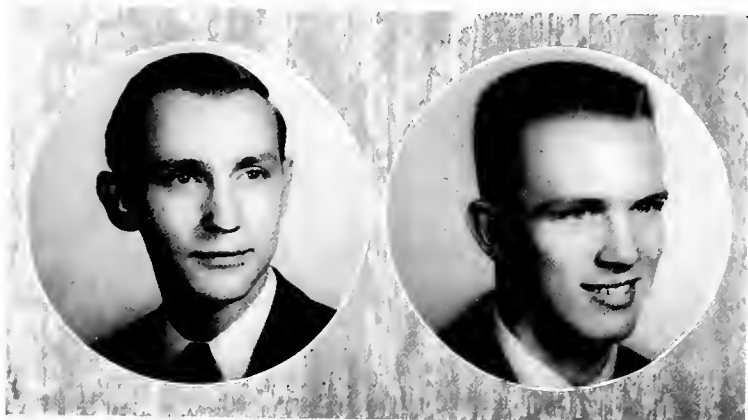

"Plam living and high thinking" is a motto of the college and of the Y.T.C. Composed of representatives from each class of the Sunday School, the Y.T.C. sponsors the annual signing of the temperance pledge. The group is ever faithful in encouraging the wise use of food, drink, and time.

Methodist Youth Fellowship

For those Methodist students on the campus, the M.Y.F. is a "tie that binds both individuals together and individuals with the church. The organization has performed great service especially in the field of mission work this year.

THE 1954

The secret's out! Yes, now you know to whom the 1954 LAUREL is dedicated, who MISS LAUREL is, who selected her, the color and design of the cover, the entire volume of secrets and surprises is yours now to have and to enjoy as a reminder of your activities, your joys, and your sorrows here at school.

We of the staff have experienced much activity in photographing the organizations and individuals that make the LAUREL what it is, in composing and compiling the necessary type to inform and to identify, in proofreading and final checking to make certain that every name fitted the proper face, in contacting the business firms that demonstrated interest in our efforts by occupying a space in our ad section, and the other incidental but essential details of transferring dreams onto paper and finally into reality.

"Well, it's almost over."

Every staff has its share of sorrows and we proved ourselves normal by our difficulties. Late and hard work enabled us to meet deadlines that loomed before us as ominous clouds. Because we overcame the difficulties and pitfalls, we give to you with a sigh of relief and a certain unspeakable joy, this, our achievement. It may not be perfect, but we believe it portrays a life — that of the biggest and brightest link in the unbroken chain of emerald mountains for a scholastic year.

Late-burning lights in Spilman annex . . . frantic last-minute phone calls . . . typewriters that wouldn't spell right . . . headlines that refused to fit . . . people that disappeared with valuable information . . . the oft-repeated words, "Volume 28" . . . these are among the memories that remain with the staff members of the Hilltop. There were times when we thought it couldn't possibly be done, but somehow we always did it. Fifteen issues, including a literary magazine have rolled off the Hilltop press since September, and each was a trial and a triumph for those who "put the thing together." There were deadlines that seemed weeks away, and then dumped themselves into our laps hours before we were ready," pictures looked fine till they came out in print, stories broke just too late for one issue and too early for the next, holes opened unexpectedly right in the middle of page 1. Yet, through all the late hours, and the hard work, and the unappreciated efforts, there was something there that made us love our work. Perhaps it was the way we learned to work together on something that was ours, or perhaps it was the laughter and the wise-cracks and the impromptu bull-sessions that interrupted our work. Sometimes we heard the voice of a student passing on Saturday who said, "Look, the Hilltops are up!" Perhaps it was pride in a common enterprise; perhaps it was only the ink in our blood showing up. Whatever it was, we liked it.

"Time out!"

It's been an eventful year for Mars Hill College, a year full of events that the Hilltop has tried its best to record faithfully. Twenty-seven years of Hilltop reporting preceded us; how many more will come after us only time can tell. And yet, we, the staff of the '54 Hilltop, have the satisfaction of knowing that this year's Hilltop is a little different, because we put it out. To the faculty, staff, and students without whom publication would have been impossible, we say, "Thank you." To those who will follow in our footsteps, we say, "Carry on." You have a wonderful job ahead of you.

"This is work, Anne?"

Dignity, Simplicity, and Conservatism, these are the words which set the standards for Non-Eu and by which we strive to mould our lives.

Each event of Euthalia's sixty-third annual Anniversary program, "Let Freedom Ring," will linger sweetly in the memories of many. Fame and fortune do not bring peace of mind, as was depicted in the Reception theme, "Peace and Plenty."

Non-Eu hall has long been a home for those who wish to walk with God and advance with his help. The soft light through the golden curtains shines as the light of God upon our paths. Here bands of friendship have been made, never to be broken. In this hall of black and gold, God has a permanent residence and He remains the center of all activities.

Nonpareil and Euthalia, truly we love you dearly and a spot in our hearts will ever be reserved for you.

Peace And Plenty

Learn by doing has long been one of the primary motives of Clio-Phi. Through its three ideals of Truth, Purity, and Fidelity, Clio-Phi has sought to aid in the development of a well rounded personality for each of its members through literary endeavors. By promoting competition within its own halls and with its cousin societies it has lived up to its name as a literary society.

"It Can Happen Here," theme of the sixty-third Philomathian Anniversary, showed what could happen when people grow unconcerned and forget how to dream, hope, and work. The Clio Reception, "Lost Through Neglect," reminded us that the things we cherish most can slip away unnoticed if we are not careful to use them every day.

Clio-Phi strives to live up to its name as the Hall of Friendship and a Christian society by always presenting God as the head of all Society. All through the year Clios and Phis are encouraged to improve and develop their talents and to live by the ideals of the society, Truth, Purity, and Fidelity.

FOOTBALL

In September, as the fall stretched before us, Saturday nights began to be designated as "Football Night." The C-II's returning with memories of thrilling games of last year, and the C-I's anxious to write home about the college football games they were seeing, thronged to the games to back their boys and chant On to Victory. As the season got under way, everyone prophesied another successful season. In many ways these were not disappointed, for team spirit and student support continued until the last play on a cold Thanksgiving afternoon. Those for whom college football was a new experience found that the thrill was just as great as if the team had won. After all, the "S. P." did play a wonderful game. The C-II's found that "into every life a little rain must fall," and found perseverance in shouting, "We're with you team . . . so fight, fight, fight."

Those boys who answered the call to practice began while most of us were still at home packing the suitcase. September 4 the first practice session got under way with a total of fifty boys present, ten of whom were returning C-II's. After approximately three weeks of rigid practice, the season got under way as the Lions played host to Hiawassee. The light rain that fell did not dampen the spirits of either the fans or the team. The Lions came off the field after three TD's, a 25-12 victory. Saturday afternoon of October 3 the Lions visited Lees-McRae. The battle in store was to be a good one, for it was their homecoming and we were as yet unbeaten. However, the injury of Mike Miller proved a serious hamper, and coupled with the fact that Powers, Martin, and Stafford were also out with injuries, Mars Hill came away the loser 0-6.

One week later MHC traveled to Hiawassee to meet them again. After playing a close game the Hiawassee team took revenge with a sudden rally to take the game 12-7.

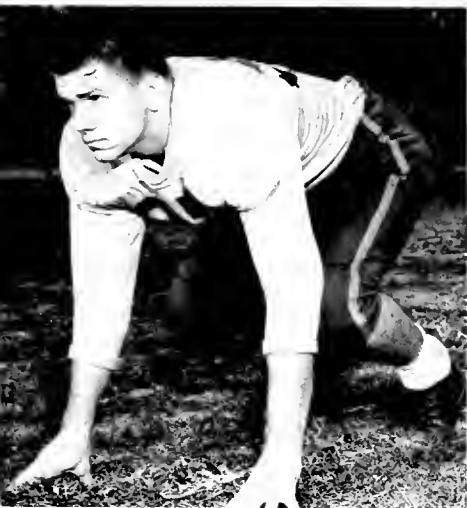

The Lions returned home for a week's practice in preparation for the home game with Gardner-Webb. This was another hard-fought, closely played contest. Gardner-Webb drove 63 yards in the final four minutes to capture the score 13-7.

On October 25 the Lions met the traditional Asheville-Biltmore rivals. Though the Lions had determination, the injury jinx was still with them and the team could not stand up against the grinding power of the Bulldogs, who captured the victory 12-0.

The Lees-McRae Bobcats were out to take the night when they came to visit our Lions on Hallowe'en night. Their precision and groundwork gave them the 19-6 decision. The Lions were unable to attack for the first three quarters, but in the fourth quarter the Lions clawed through to the touchdown rectangle.

The Lions traveled to Gardner-Webb on November 7, where they suffered defeat at a 31-0 score. The Bulldogs played a strong game in all quarters and the Lions were unable to resist the drives.

When Chowan came to the mountains, we entertained them for a day and hoped the Lions could defeat them. They did try hard and the 21-19 defeat showed that it was the closest to victory the team had been for some time.

The final game of the season was the Thanksgiving afternoon Homecoming game. The Lions played exceptionally well but the first half was scoreless. The Bulldogs lived up to their name for persistency, however, and rallied to defeat the Lions 18-0.

Though the Lions ended the season with an unimpressive tally of losses, the sports fans were well pleased with the enthusiasm and sportsmanship shown and sympathetic with the long injury list that plagued the coaches. In looking back at the season, all are prone to think that it isn't the results, but the way they played, that counts.

BASKETBALL

Almost before the football had completed the last pass, minds were turning to basketball. A large group answered the coach's call to practice and from this group the coach selected his traveling team of five sophomores and seven freshmen. All the returning sophomores had seen action last season and all the freshmen had played high school ball. As the season of '54 began the team as well as the student body looked forward to many exciting games and a bid to the tournament.

As students gathered in McConnell on Tuesday nights to watch our boys pounding down the courts the season record improved. When all the conference games were played we found the boys had a record of six wins to only two losses. The team went to the conference tournament where they were runners-up for the championship and only four points away from victory. The season was a job well done on the part of both coaches and team.

Tennis

The Tennis team is one of Mars Hill's less publicized sports. Although the tennis courts are a long way from some of the dorms the boys appreciate a good attendance at a match as much as does the football squad. The boys work hard and a match is usually quite a treat.

Baseball

The king of American sports is supposedly baseball. At Mars Hill on warm spring afternoons it is certainly a treat. Last year our team made a good showing and they expect to do so again. From all the evidence of the fine games played this season it seems that baseball will remain the king of Mars Hill spring sports.

Track

It may be the influence of the hills around Mars Hill or it may be those 100 yard dashes to class as the bell rings or it may be natural talent, but whatever it is Mars Hill seems to be able to turn out a track team with a vigor and ability that just can't be beaten. If you want an exciting spring afternoon of sport just go down to the track and watch the team in action.

M-Club

The M-Club is the honor club of those athletes who have participated in the various sports and have earned the Mars Hill College M. They are these boys who are outstanding in ability and sportsmanship.

Intramural Football Champs

For those fellows who haven't enough time to play on the regular squad during football season and for those who love the game and want to play occasionally the intramural games are a highlight of the year. This year the Treat "Sons" walked off with the championship.

M-Club Officers

The task of the M-Club officers is to lead the lettermen of the college in their attempt to learn and practice good sportsmanship. Bill Miller, David Odom, Conrad Godshall, and Jackie Powers comprise the capable leaders who have strived to make the M-Club a haven for the best athletes on campus.

HOME COMING

Thanksgiving day is traditionally Homecoming Day for those friends of ours that have finished here before us. The day is begun bright and early by a band of pilgrims that make the rounds in the chilly dawn singing Thanksgiving songs. Friends that have been arriving since the night before are greeted with an excited squeal and a hearty hug. At ten o'clock the Thanksgiving service begins in the church. The lunch lines grow longer and longer as visitors and students wait for their turkey. That afternoon the football game begins at two o'clock. This year the Lions played the Bulldogs from Asheville-Biltmore in a spirited battle although the score tallied in their favor at the end of the afternoon. Highlighting the afternoon's event was the halftime entrance of six beautiful snow-maidens, Mars Hill's beauty queens. President Blackwell crowned Lou Mary Switzer as the Homecoming Queen of 1953, and the co-captains of the football team crowned Cathy Crain as the Football Queen. The four snowmaidens attending our queens were Martha Swanson representing the C-II Class, Edna June Funk as the C-I Class beauty, Phyllis Ware sponsored by the Band, and Nancy Lynch representing the M-Club. The marching Band complete with the drum major and highsteppers performed magnificently for the Homecoming crowd. The whole day was a wonderful experience for both students and visitors.

Women's Athletics

Although all the girls at Mars Hill are members of the W.A.A. with an inactive status, there are those active members who participate in the girls sports clubs. The W.A.A. Council is one of the hardest working organizations this campus has witnessed in some years. The organization sponsors the blood bank, runs the concession stand at the football and basketball games, holds breakfasts on the Athletic Field, sponsors Play-Days, and various other projects. The best pep rally of the year was the W.A.A. sponsored C-I — C-II competitive pep meet.

The M-Blem Club corresponds to the M-Club for the men and is open to all women who are wearers of the Mars Hill M for participation in sports.

MAY DAY 1953

On May Day of 1953, a young maiden leaves home to seek fulfillment of her dreams and wanders into a forest where she falls asleep. A pixie discovers her and, realizing that she is dreaming of far away places, introduces dancers from six countries. The maiden awakes and in reflecting about her dream she realizes that it is a companion she wishes rather than adventures. A prince, searching for the girl of his dreams, finds her and they fall in love. They then join the people of all the world in saying that it's a big, wide, wonderful world.
